

Brackley Carnival 2013

Posted on June 10, 2013 by cdc

As usual BORG was on hand to help man the road closures along the path of the annual Brackley carnival procession from the sawmills to the show ground.

And as usual it never ceases to amaze us just how many people think that Road Closed signs don't apply to them. Though with Stephen Reed's fire-engine land-rover on one junction with orange and blue beacons going, we didn't actually have to engage with many of the would be exceptions to the rule, as soon as they saw blue lights they turned tail!

This year BORG had a stand at the show itself, an opportunity to meet the public, talk about what we do, maybe bring in some new recruits.

